ADVISORY SERVICES OFFERED

FINANCIAL PLANNING

We offer a complementary comprehensive financial plan that involves a review of your financial situation, goals, and risk tolerance. Through a series of personal interviews and/or the use of questionnaires, we will collect pertinent data, identify goals, objectives, financial problems, and potential solutions. With this information, we tailor your financial plan and advice we give to you. Our advice may cover any of the following topics: net worth statement; cash flow analysis; tax analysis; insurance and long-term care analysis; tax planning; retirement projection; 401k review; or other needs as identified during our meetings with you. Following our meetings, you will receive a written financial plan.

PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT

Our portfolio management services are offered to assist with the ongoing management of your investment accounts. We work with you to understand your investment objectives, time frame and risk tolerance. With this information we create a customized portfolio. We will request discretionary authority from you to select securities and execute transactions without permission from you prior to each transaction. We base our investment recommendations on a variety of factors including, but not limited to, performance risk, fees, tax efficiency of different investment strategies, as well as your input and preferences regarding the strategies.

At times, we may recommend the services of a sub-adviser that has investment strategies we don’t offer.

Once a sub-adviser is selected, we continue to monitor them to ensure that they adhere to the philosophy and investment style for which they were selected. We will retain discretionary authority to hire and fire the sub-adviser and when necessary, reallocate your assets to a new sub-adviser. The sub-adviser will have full discretion to select the securities and execute transactions without prior permission from you prior to each transaction. We can, but don’t always, recommend Wealthspan Investment Management, LLC (CRD #309553), which is owned by one of our owners, Jeffrey Stukey. Please see Item 10 for additional details. We have other institutional sub-advisers available through Fidelity Investments, Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. and Altruist Financial, Inc., which are the custodians we recommend. A complete description of the sub-adviser’s services and fees will be disclosed in the sub-adviser’s Form ADV Part 2A or equivalent brochure which will be provided to you.

TAILORED SERVICES

The goals and objectives for each client are documented before any investing takes place. You may impose restrictions on investing in certain securities or types of securities.

WRAP PROGRAM

We do not sponsor a wrap fee program.

CLIENT ASSETS MANAGED

As of March 6, 2026, we currently manage $14,629,295 in client assets on a discretionary basis. We also advise and monitor on $483,200 in client assets held with third-party advisers.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

INVESTMENT MANAGEMENT AND USE OF SUB-ADVISER SERVICES

We charge an annual management fee based on the percentage of assets under management as reported by the custodian. Our maximum annual management fee is 1.50%. The management fee is calculated and collected monthly, in arrears; meaning the management fee is calculated and collected based on the custodian reported account value as of the last business day of the month. For example, an account value of $500,000 multiplied by 1.00% divided by 12 months equals $416.67 ($$500,000 \times 0.01 / 12 = \416.67). The initial month's management fee will be prorated for the number of days the account was managed during the month. Cash balances and investments in money market funds, demand deposit accounts, or certificates of deposit held in the account are included in the fee calculations.

Our management fee does not include any sub-adviser's management fee. The sub-adviser's maximum annual management fee is 0.60%. The total fees will be acknowledged and disclosed to you in the investment management agreement.

You will be asked to authorize us or the sub-adviser with the ability to instruct the custodian to deduct our management fee and the sub-advisers from your account. You may cancel this authorization at any time. Please see Item 15 for additional details regarding fee deduction.

Fees are negotiable based on the size of the account. You may aggregate accounts to achieve a lower fee.

OTHER FEES AND EXPENSES

Our fees are separate and distinct from any other fees or expenses. You may incur certain charges imposed by custodians, brokers, and other third parties such as fees charged by managers, custodial fees, deferred sales charges, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. Mutual funds and exchange traded funds also charge internal management fees, which are disclosed in a fund's prospectus. Such charges, fees and commissions are exclusive, of and in addition to, our fee and we will not receive any portion of these commissions, fees, and costs. For more information about our brokerage practice please see Item 12.A.

TERMINATION OF SERVICES

You may terminate any of our services for any reason within the first five (5) business days after signing the contract without any cost or penalty for a full refund. Thereafter, the contract may be terminated at any time by giving ten (10) days written notice. All management fees will be prorated through the day of cancellation. To cancel the agreement, you must notify us in writing to 5030 Corporate Exchange Blvd SE, Suite 201, Grand Rapids, MI 49512.

OTHER SECURITIES COMPENSATION

We do not receive any additional securities compensation.

RETIREMENT ROLLOVER CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

When we provide investment advice to you regarding your retirement plan account or individual retirement account, we are fiduciaries within the meaning of Title I of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act and/or the Internal Revenue Code, as applicable, which are laws governing retirement accounts. The way we make money creates some conflicts of interest with your interests, so we operate under a special rule that requires us to act in your best interest and not put our interests ahead of yours.

Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees and Side by Side Management

We do not charge any performance-based fees (fees based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the assets of a client) or provide side by side management.

Item 7 – Types of Clients

We offer our services to individuals, high net worth individuals, and corporations and other business entities. We do not require a minimum balance.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

METHODS OF ANALYSIS AND INVESTMENT STRATEGIES

When we create your portfolio, we start by identifying the proper asset allocation. Asset allocation is an investment strategy that aims to balance risk and reward by apportioning a portfolio's assets according to an individual's goals, risk tolerance and investment horizon. The asset classes typically include US equities, US fixed-income, international equities, international fixed-income, as well as cash and equivalents. The risk associated with asset allocation is that each class has different levels of risk and return, so each will behave differently over time. There is no guarantee that diversification among asset classes will grow a portfolio.

Next, we identify whether we will use a passive investment strategy, tactical investment strategy, or a combination thereof for your account(s). We will also utilize fundamental and technical analysis. A general description of these investment strategies and methods of analysis are described below:

A tactical investment strategy is an active investment management strategy that rebalances the percentage of assets held in various asset classes in order to take advantage of market pricing anomalies or strong market sectors. This strategy is designed to allow portfolio managers to create value by taking advantage of certain situations in the marketplace. A goal of tactical asset management is to limit losses by underweighting asset classes that are underperforming. The risk associated with tactical asset allocation is that overweighting or underweighting certain asset classes may lead to underperformance compared to an even weighted portfolio. There is also no guarantee that overweighting or underweighting certain asset classes will grow a portfolio better than passive investing.

A passive investment strategy is an investment management strategy in which investors buy and hold a diversified mix of assets in an effort to match, not beat, the market. The most common passive investing approach is to buy an index fund, whose holdings mirror a particular or representative segment of the financial market. Passive investing is the opposite of active tactical investing. Additional benefits of passive investment management are that a portfolio typically has good diversification, low turnover (good for keeping down internal transaction costs and potentially capital gains taxes), and possibly lower investment management fees.

With respect to our recommendation of sub-advisers, we attempt to match your individualized needs, goals, and objectives with the sub-adviser's methods of analysis and investment strategies. Please refer to the sub-adviser's ADV Part 2A – Item 8.A for a full description of their methods of analysis and investment strategies.

INVESTMENT RISKS

All investment programs have certain risks that are borne by you and investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear. Our goal is to reduce the risk of loss, but not at the expense of portfolio growth. Recommended investment strategies seek to balance risks and rewards to achieve investment objectives. To manage risk, we rebalance model portfolios on an as needed basis to bring the asset allocations back to their intended balances. You should feel free to ask questions about risks that you do not understand; we would be pleased to discuss them.

RECOMMENDED SECURITIES

We use several types of securities in your portfolios including, but not limited to, mutual funds, exchange traded funds (ETFs), stocks, bonds, and structured notes. Some of the risk associated with these securities include:

- Credit Risk: This is the risk an issuer of a bond could suffer an adverse change in financial condition that results in a payment default, security downgrade, or inability to meet financial obligation.
- Inflation Risk: This is the risk that inflation will undermine the performance of an investment and/or the future purchasing power of a client's assets.
- Interest Rate Risk: The chance that bond prices overall will decline because of rising interest rates.

- International Investing Risk: Investing in the securities of non-U.S. companies involves special risks not typically associated with investing in U.S. companies. Foreign securities tend to be more volatile and less liquid than investments in U.S. securities, and may lose value because of adverse political, social, or economic developments overseas or due to changes in the exchange rates between foreign currencies and the U.S. dollar. In addition, foreign investments are subject to settlement practices, as well as regulatory and financial reporting standards, that differ from those of the U.S.
- Liquidity Risk: Liquidity risk exist when particular investments are difficult to purchase or sell, possibly preventing the ability to sell such illiquid securities at an advantageous time or price, or possibly requiring the client to dispose of other investments at unfavorable times or prices in order to satisfy its obligations.
- Manager Risk: The chance that the proportions allocated to the various securities will cause the client’s account to underperform relevant to benchmarks or other accounts with a similar investment objective.
- Stock Market Risk: The chance that stock prices overall will decline. Stock markets tend to move in cycles, with periods of rising stock prices and periods of falling stock prices.
- Mutual Fund Manager Risk: The chance that the proportions allocated to the various mutual funds will cause the client’s account to underperform relevant to benchmarks or other accounts with similar investment objective.
- Pricing Transparency Risk: There is no uniform standard pricing, making it harder to compare the net-of-pricing attractiveness of alternative structured products offerings than it is to compare the net expense ratios of different mutual funds or commissions among broker-dealers. Many structured product issuers work the pricing into their option models so that there is no explicit fee or other expense to the investor. This means the investor cannot know for sure what the implicit costs are.

Our Code of Ethics covers all supervised persons and it describes our high standard of business conduct and fiduciary duty to our clients. The Code of Ethics includes, among other things, provisions relating to the confidentiality of client information, a prohibition on insider trading, a prohibition on rumor mongering, restrictions on the acceptance of significant gifts and the reporting of certain gifts and business entertainment items, and personal securities trading procedures. MATERIAL INTEREST IN SECURITIES

We do not have a material interest in any securities.

INVESTING IN OR RECOMMENDING THE SAME SECURITIES

Our staff is permitted to engage in personal securities transactions. These transactions create potential conflicts of interest if they were to trade in advance in a security that is owned by you or considered for purchase or sale on your behalf. We have adopted policies and procedures that are reasonably designed to effect transactions for you in a manner consistent with the fiduciary duty owed to each client. Our staff who buys and sells the same securities bought or sold for a you may do so only if they comply with our written policies and procedures.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

RECOMMENDATION CRITERIA

We do not maintain custody of client assets. Your assets must be maintained in an account at a “qualified custodian,” which is generally a broker-dealer or bank. We recommend that you use Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. (“Schwab”), Altruist Financial LLC, and or Fidelity, Members FINRA and SIPC as qualified custodians.

Please Note: You may be able to obtain lower commissions and fees from other brokers, and the value of products, research and services given to the applicant is not a factor in determining the selection of broker-dealers or the reasonableness of their commissions.

RESEARCH AND SOFT DOLLARS

“Soft dollars” are defined as a form of payment investment firms can use to pay for goods and services such as news subscriptions or research. When an investment firm gives its business to a particular brokerage firm, the brokerage firm in return can agree to use some of its revenue to pay for these types of services. We don't receive any soft dollars; however, we receive non-economic benefits through our relationship with Schwab and Altruist, please see Item 14 for additional details.

BROKERAGE FOR CLIENT REFERRALS

We do not receive client referrals or any other incentive from any broker-dealer or custodian.

DIRECTED BROKERAGE

We do not allow directed brokerage.

TRADE AGGREGATION

We may aggregate transactions in equity and fixed income securities for a client with other clients to improve the quality of execution. When transactions are so aggregated, the actual prices applicable to the aggregated transactions will be averaged, and each client account will be deemed to have purchased or sold its proportionate share of the securities involved at the average price obtained. We may determine not to aggregate transactions, for example, based on the size of the trades, the number of client's accounts, the timing of the trades, the liquidity of the securities or the discretionary or non-discretionary nature of the trades. If we do not aggregate orders, some clients purchasing securities around the same time may receive a less favorable price than other clients. This means that the practice of not aggregating may cost clients more money.

You will receive at least quarterly account statements from the custodian that holds and maintains your assets. We urge you to carefully review these account statements.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

We offer discretionary investment management services. With discretionary investment management services, you must sign the investment management agreement to grant us discretionary power over your account. The investment management agreement provides us with the ability to delegate the discretionary power to the sub-adviser and contains a limited power of attorney that allows the sub-adviser to select the security, the amount and the time of the purchase or sale in your account. It also allows them to place each trade without your prior approval. Our discretionary authority is limited to hiring and firing the sub-adviser and reallocating your accounts to another sub-adviser. The custodian may request that you sign the custodian's limited power of attorney. This varies with each custodian. We discuss all limited powers of attorney with you prior to their execution. In all cases, however, discretionary will be exercised in a manner consistent with the stated investment objectives for your account and any other investment policies, limitations, or restrictions.

Item 17 – Voting Client Securities
